01 INTRODUCTION AND DEFINITIONS

Our Code of Ethics is guided by the integrity and professionalism of our decision-making.

1.1. Introduction

Our Code is guided by the integrity and professionalism of our decision-making, establishing a set of general principles that should guide our everyday behaviour as members of SIMAT. Accordingly, it articulates a framework that seeks to go beyond the mere compliance with the law.

We all know the importance of acting with integrity and responsibility. Integrity allows us to build and preserve a sustainable environment to which we all are proud to belong to and it strengthens our professional activity. Moreover, through following this Code, our behaviour also contributes to the wider society.

Business growth and maintaining high standards in terms of management and compliance with regulations are mutually reinforcing elements. Building trust with the wider public is a gradual process and requires constant effort. Therefore, it is the responsibility of all of us to protect the Group's reputation, which means acting with honesty and treating our stakeholders, whether internal and external collaborators, our customers, shareholders, partners and suppliers, in a fair and honest manner.

We count on your full support and commitment to help SIMAT remain a company of the future that is built on its core values contained in this Code of Ethics.

We expect and encourage you to read this Code carefully, to be its faithful guardian, and we thank you in advance for your contribution to the implementation of the Code of Ethics within the Group. With your help, SIMAT will continue to merit the confidence that we all have.

03 SIMAT CODE OF ETHICS

The rules in the Code of Ethics represent minimum standards for ethical behaviour within SIMAT that apply to all countries, companies, and legal systems.

3.1. What is the purpose of the Code?

The Code of Ethics is a binding set of rules that define the expectation of behaviour and set forth the principles that should guide the conduct of SIMAT and all its Professionals in the performance of their duties and in their commercial and professional relationships.

All SIMAT Professionals are required to comply with the conduct presented in this Code.

Our Code of Ethics is the cornerstone of SIMAT's Compliance Management System (CMS). This Code, together with its implementing regulations, highlights the firm commitment made by SIMAT to promote good ESG responsibility. This Code of Ethics may not be able to provide an answer to each situation and ethical dilemma we are presented with. Each of us is responsible for acting with integrity and common sense, observing SIMAT core principles in every aspect of our work. In case of doubt, SIMAT makes available the Ethics & Compliance (E&C) Communication Channel described in Section 4 of this Code.

3.2. Who has to comply with the Code?

All SIMAT Professionals have the duty to know and comply with the Code, regardless of their rank, location or the SIMAT Company to which they provide services. Each and every Professional of SIMAT must expressly undertake to comply with the Code. Failure to read our Code, to complete compliance trainings, or to sign any related acknowledgements, does not release SIMAT Professionals from their obligation to comply with the Code.

Respect for and compliance with the Code, as well as commitment to SIMAT values, have to be considered in each case of granting a promotion within SIMAT. No breach of the Code is justified. No SIMAT Professional may justify conduct that contravenes the provisions of the Code of Ethics in reliance on an instruction from a superior or knowledge of the conduct by said superior. In such cases, the SIMAT Professional must report it via the E&C Communication Channel.

We expect our clients, business partners and suppliers to be professional and honest, and embrace our core principles. Pursuant to the Global Anti-Corruption Procedure, Third Parties shall undertake to comply with our Code.

SIMAT requires that all management:

- Foster a culture of ethics and compliance in their everyday work.
- Raise awareness and promote strict compliance with the Code.
- Take adequate measures to supervise that those under their authority comply with the Code.
- Select and promote their employees and collaborators according to their integrity, qualifications and work performance.
- Seek guidance from the CCO in case of doubts on the application or interpretation of the Code.
- Promptly report any actual or suspected breach of the Code, including those that others share with them.

3.3. Sustainability Committee and Chief Compliance Officer (CCO)

SIMAT has entrusted the Sustainability Committee to promote the implementation of the ESG Policy of the Group and, in particular, the management of ESG matters, ESG responsibility, ethics and transparency.

The CCO, under the direction and supervision of the Sustainability Committee, must take the necessary actions to promote the Code of Ethics and monitor compliance with it by all SIMAT Professionals. The CCO is in charge of:

- 1 Disseminating the content of the Code
designing and conducting necessary compliance training.
- 2 Promoting and coordinating the application of the Code
by the various companies of the Group.
- 3 Enhancing and promoting the approval of internal policies and procedures as required for effective implementation of our values.
- 4 Receiving and handling questions and complaints related to the Code and reports on potential irregularities.
- 5 Investigating any alleged breach of the Code
and participating in the proposal of the corresponding measures, disciplinary and otherwise.
- 6 Carrying out the necessary risk assessments to assess the need to update the Code.
- 7 Supervising and monitoring compliance and correct implementation of the Code without prejudice to the duties of Internal Audit and its assistance if required.

Each year the CCO will prepare and submit to the Sustainability Committee an annual report on all actions carried out in compliance with the above listed obligations to evaluate the level of Compliance with the Code of Ethics.

3.4. Communication and training

SIMAT provides SIMAT Professionals and Third Parties with a copy of this Code at the time of starting the employment or commercial relationship with them. SIMAT Professionals and Third Parties shall at that moment expressly commit to observe the Code.

The CCO is responsible for promoting the dissemination of the content of the Code of Ethics among SIMAT Professionals, clients, suppliers and business partners. In this regard, the CCO must develop, and keep up-to-date, a training and internal communications plan to increase knowledge of the Code among SIMAT Professionals.

It is a binding obligation for all SIMAT Professionals to attend the periodic training on the Code and, if applicable, on the regulations that develop it.

3.5. Review of the Code

The Code of Ethics shall be revised and updated periodically. The Sustainability Committee, Internal Control department, and the CCO shall be able to make proposals to improve the Code of Ethics. Any revision of the Code of Ethics shall require the authorisation of the Sustainability Committee and SIMAT senior leadership.

04 ASKING QUESTIONS AND REPORTING CONCERNS

We are all responsible for bringing SIMAT's values to life and protecting it from unethical behaviour.

We are all responsible for bringing SIMAT's values to life and protecting it from unethical behaviour. Thus, it is essential that we all feel free to ask questions, or raise concerns, if we are uncertain about what to do, or if something does not feel right.

Asking questions

If you have doubts concerning this Code of Ethics, you can get advice from your superior or from the SIMAT Compliance department. Additionally, the SIMAT Ethics & Compliance (E&C) Communication Channel is available to all SIMAT Professionals, as well as to our clients, suppliers, business partners and other third parties to raise any questions or doubts regarding the interpretation and application of the Code of Ethics. All questions are welcomed and will be handled in a timely and sensitive way. The CCO is in charge of managing the E&C Channel and redirecting those doubts not related to the Code or related policies to the appropriate person.

How to access it

Communications to the E&C Communication Channel may be sent by completing the electronic form available in SIMAT's global intranet as well as in the appropriate section of SIMAT's website.

Reporting Concerns or Suspicions

All SIMAT Professionals, as well as Third Parties, shall report through the Ethics & Compliance (E&C) Communication Channel any reasonable indications or suspicion of any act or omission in violation of the rules set out in this Code. Speaking up is not optional. If you believe that the Code, SIMAT internal regulations, or the law may be violated, you must raise your concerns in a timely manner. In the event that the complaint bears any relationship with the CCO or the Group's Compliance department, it may be directly reported to the General Counsel.

In accordance with SIMAT's Policy on the Ethics & Compliance Communication Channel System and Informant Protection, the CCO is responsible for managing the channel and, as long as their impartiality is not compromised, will handle any reported complaint. This Code and its related policies are not just a set of "best practices" or recommendations — compliance with them is mandatory. Therefore, any breach may result in the imposition of disciplinary measures up to and including, as the case may be, termination of the professional relationship, in accordance with applicable laws and practices.

All communications must be made in good faith and based on reasonable grounds. Reasonable grounds refer to facts or indications from which the reasonable conclusion can be drawn that an act or omission in violation of the rules of this Code has occurred.

In order to grant maximum security and protection of the person reporting the breach, SIMAT commits itself to:

- Prevent, investigate and act against any kind of harassment or retaliation against a reporting person (or those connected to such reporting person).
- Comply with applicable labour and data protection laws and internal policies.
- Ensure the confidentiality and/or anonymity of the whistleblower throughout the investigation.

05 PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

Our principles of conduct derive from SIMAT's core principles.

The principles of conduct that derive from SIMAT's core principles are listed in this section of the Code.

5.1. Respecting dignity at the workplace

SIMAT's commitment to the values in this Code would not be credible if it is not reflected in an employment relationship based on respecting the dignity of every employee. The employment relationship shall be free from any abuse of authority or any conduct that might seriously offend others. SIMAT operates in various cultures, with different customs that we have to learn about and respect, acting in a respectful manner and according to the different social norms. Our Anti-Discrimination Policy is focused on the prevention of any type of discrimination in hiring decisions, professional promotions, workplace organization or disciplinary actions.

SIMAT is opposed to all forms of unlawful or unfair discrimination. Bullying and harassment in the workplace, including sexual harassment, are intolerable behaviours and are required to be reported by everyone.

5.2. Encouraging Diversity, Inclusion and Equality

SIMAT strongly believes in diverse and inclusive work environments, where each individual can grow personally and professionally. Each individual is unique and we want everyone to perform at their best, ensuring that our workforce grows and remains diverse in regards to cultures, gender, generation, abilities and other capacities. Diversity makes us stronger as a company and has a large part to play in our performance, values and team-oriented work environment. SIMAT proudly supports our Diversity and Equality Policy and is engaged in several projects that promote Diversity, Inclusion and Equality throughout all the companies of the SIMAT Group.

5.3. Human Rights, Child Labour and Modern Slavery

As part of our commitment to the Ten Principles of the United Nations Global Compact, SIMAT supports and respects the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights and helps prevent and stop possible abuses of these rights.

Child labour

SIMAT believes that the exploitation of children is abhorrent and counterintuitive to our beliefs as a company that all peoples deserve basic human rights such as access to education. All offices are required to abide by local legislation relating to minimum working/school leaving age, with any noted non-compliance being dealt with swiftly by management at all levels.

Forced labour

SIMAT condemns the act of enslaving and trafficking people or any perceived notion of such activities taking place. Forced or compulsory labour is strictly prohibited. Employees must not be forced into involuntary labour and coercion.

Work Experience programmes

This is not to be confused with Work Experience, Internship or Apprenticeship programmes designed to provide young persons valuable experience. Such programmes shall be undertaken in a formalised manner that ensures the welfare of the individuals concerned.

Modern slavery

Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. All types of modern slavery have in common the deprivation of a person's liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain. SIMAT is committed to supporting the elimination of any forms of Modern Slavery and fully meets its obligations under all relevant legislative requirements.

5.4. Health and safety risks and employees' rights

Building a healthy work environment and respecting the dignity of employees include respecting employees' rights. Our Group will respect the international standards promoted by the International Labour Organization wherever it operates. SIMAT recognizes the freedom of association, which means that all persons within our organization have the right to freely affiliate with trade unions, and the right to collective bargaining.

The SIMAT Occupational Health and Safety Policies prevent risks and promote Health and Safety in the workplace.

SIMAT cares for and protects the health, safety and welfare of its Professionals; all Professionals have the right to challenge and the authority to stop the work whenever they have concerns about safety. In turn, all SIMAT Professionals have the obligation to know and comply with the Group's Health and Safety policies and procedures, and ensure their own safety as well as the safety of all people who might be affected by their activities.

5.5. Data protection and privacy

Managing any business today requires the protection of personal data in the context of a vast array of day-to-day business operations. SIMAT will always strive to protect individuals and their corresponding fundamental rights. Although laws related to data protection vary in the different countries where we operate, all SIMAT Professionals must respect these basic rules:

- Access to any SIMAT Professional's file is restricted, in accordance with the Group's Policy on the use of IT resources.
- Personal data may only be collected and filed to the extent necessary to achieve a legitimate business purpose, and such information may only be used for the purpose for which it is collected.

- Personal data of any SIMAT Professional may be accessed during an investigation when there are reasonable grounds to suspect that said Professional has breached the Code, in accordance with applicable laws and internal policies.
- Personal data processed by the Company can be disclosed to third parties in order to comply with legal obligations to which SIMAT is subject, where necessary for the performance of a contract or for the legitimate interests pursued by SIMAT or a third party.

Any reasonable indication or suspicion of a leak or breach (either deliberate or inadvertent) of personal or confidential information, or the personal use of such information, must be immediately reported by those with knowledge thereof through the E&C Communication Channel.

5.6. Handling confidential information and cybersecurity

All SIMAT Professionals must treat as strictly confidential all reserved information to which they have access as a result of their professional activity at SIMAT. Due to our activity, we have access to suppliers and clients' sensitive information that we must protect and treat accordingly. This includes the obligation not to disclose confidential information without respecting applicable conditions for it or make an improper use of it.

SIMAT Professionals shall avoid personally benefitting from an opportunity about which they became aware as a result of the access to confidential information in the course of their work. SIMAT's Information Security Policy specifies these obligations in more detail. Any confidential or non-public information of listed companies, including SIMAT, may not be used in order to, directly or indirectly, carry out (or recommend a third party to do so) any type of transaction in their shares, financial derivatives or any other securities. Internal Regulations for conduct in the Securities Markets set forth the rules that apply to certain SIMAT Professionals.

Cyber threats and cybersecurity risks have become more serious and complex as attackers use sophisticated methods to gain illicit access to an organization's systems and data. To protect personal and confidential information, as well as our know-how, SIMAT takes every reasonable measure to prevent unauthorized access, disclosure or misuse.

We all have the responsibility to be cyber secure and we must take the time to understand what we need to do to protect our networks, systems, devices and the information that we use on a daily basis.

Confidential information may include: business or trade secrets of SIMAT or third parties, such as pricing policies, research projects, customer database, accounting or financial information, know-how, business development plans, or any materials marked "confidential".

5.7. Sustainable development and environmental protection

Our Company is committed to SUSTAINABILITY, understood as the capability of meeting our own needs without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own. The Group's ENVIRONMENTAL COMMITMENT is driven by a focus on preventing and minimising the potential impacts on climate change and the environment caused by our operations, as well as focusing on the services we provide to reduce or mitigate our clients' impacts. In our own operations, we are committed to minimising our impact through reducing energy consumption at our sites, utilising renewable energy sources, implementing 'green' waste management practices and operating quality and environmental management systems.

5.8. Fair competition and clients

Any kind of agreement with our competitors against the law is strictly prohibited. Always err on the side of caution when corresponding with competitors. Our company takes a zero-tolerance stance on corruption.

At SIMAT, we believe that innovation and compliance with antitrust and unfair competition laws are the bases for economic growth. Therefore, the following are strictly prohibited:

- Any illegal agreement intended to share markets or to fix prices or bid-rigging in the public or private sector.
- The improper use and/or disclosure of trade secrets, confidential information or intellectual property rights (such as trademarks, copyrights, and patents) belonging to third parties.
- Making any type of offer or advertising with information that is not truthful or that could be misleading or deceitful for clients.

Our Competition Policy provides information about competition laws and guidance to our employees in order to identify sensitive situations and how the applicable laws may affect their behaviour when dealing or relating with competitors.

5.9. Fighting against corruption

SIMAT complies with national and international laws relating to the prevention of corruption in all countries where we are established. SIMAT Professionals and Third Parties have the duty to avoid any corrupt practice. SIMAT has implemented a Global Anti-Corruption Policy and Procedure for all countries where we operate. This policy and procedure prohibits the following activities:

- 1 Promise or give anything of value to public officials or company employees to obtain an unjustified treatment or benefit.
- 2 Give anything of value beyond the specific limits set out in our policy to public officials or other companies' employees, or without observing the Global Anti-Corruption Procedure.
- 3 Request or accept anything of value from another company to grant an unjustified benefit to said company or a third party.
- 4 Use a personal relationship with a public official or political-party member improperly in order to obtain a favourable treatment or unjustified benefit for SIMAT.
- 5 Engage Third Parties acting on behalf of SIMAT without prior integrity checks and without confirmation of their ability to comply with our Anti-Corruption Policy.
- 6 Make payments to public officials (other than official tax, duties, fees)
even if allowed by local law, to obtain an authorization or to expedite an administrative proceeding.

SIMAT discourages its Professionals and Third Parties from giving or receiving gifts or hospitalities on behalf of SIMAT. The receipt or giving of any gift or hospitality shall be in strict compliance with the Global Anti-Corruption Procedure. Anything of value might include cash or gift cards, gifts, invitations to events or leisure activities, meals and travel expenses, job offers for family members or close friends, or cancellation of a debt. Before engaging in any lobbying activities with stakeholders, consult with the Legal Department.

5.10. Fraud Prevention and Other Irregularities

Fraud is understood as any act carried out through deception, with the intention of obtaining personal or corporate gain. Fraud can be committed in various forms, and there is no typical profile. It can be carried out by an individual or in collaboration with others. It can be committed internally by SIMAT Professionals or Third Parties, or externally by suppliers, clients, or others.

Some examples of fraudulent acts include:

- Intentional manipulation of financial statements
- Embezzlement (e.g., theft of cash before it is recorded)
- Misappropriation of client funds
- Sales or expense information that is inflated or inaccurate
- Forgery or alteration of documents (e.g., checks or authorizations)
- Sale of customer information
- Assisting or inciting others to commit fraud

SIMAT has policies in place to combat fraud, such as the Anti-Money Laundering Policy and the Employee Expense Claim Policy. Compliance, Internal Audit, and Internal Control Departments work closely together in detecting, preventing, and combating various types of fraud. However, it is the responsibility of everyone to be vigilant against any unusual activity, closely monitor any suspicious financial transactions, and report any concerns through the E&C Communication Channel.

5.11. Social responsibility, sponsorship and donations

As a responsible member of society, SIMAT promotes culture, science and arts through sponsorship activities and donations. At SIMAT, we fully believe that we should give back to our communities. Any sponsorship or donation shall have a legitimate purpose, must be formalized in writing, and be approved pursuant to the Global Anti-Corruption Procedure.

Contributions to political parties or trade unions on behalf of SIMAT, anywhere in the world, are strictly prohibited.

5.12. Veracity of information and record keeping

Guaranteeing the integrity, reliability and accuracy of information is everybody's responsibility. We must ensure the accuracy and veracity of the information that we provide to our shareholders, to the markets where our shares are listed and their regulatory agencies, and to any public administration. In no case should SIMAT Professionals knowingly provide incorrect information. SIMAT undertakes to provide adequate, true and objective information about the Group's evolution to its shareholders. All of SIMAT's financial transactions must be clearly and accurately documented and recorded.

5.13. Compliance with Business Regulations & Economic Sanctions

SIMAT Group operates worldwide, catering to the needs of its clients, as part of its ongoing growth and expansion. SIMAT recognizes that this process may involve operating in high-risk countries or refraining from operating in certain countries or areas under specific circumstances. Our international presence requires us to understand and comply with local laws as well as the business laws of the countries where we operate. SIMAT is fully committed to complying with applicable laws and regulations regarding cross-border trade, as well as sanctions and export controls. Before engaging in any cross-border trade operations, refer to the SIMAT Sanctions and Export/Import Control Policy. Prior to commencing operations in a new country, follow the guidelines outlined in SIMAT Global Policy for Operating in a New Country.

5.14. Integrity in our services

Our services must be rendered in a professional, independent and impartial manner, according to the methods, procedures, practices and policies of SIMAT and the laws of each country. Recommendations, professional opinions, data, results and generally any asserted facts must be documented in a careful manner, in compliance with internal policies and protocols. Reports and certifications have to include objective and truthful results and findings, as well as the corresponding opinion of the relevant professionals. SIMAT, in rendering its services, strictly observes and avoids any kind of legal restriction or limitation as the services that it can render, in accordance with the Global Conflict of Interest Policy.

5.15. Conflicts of interest

A conflict of interest arises when the personal interest of a SIMAT Professional is or can be, directly or indirectly, in contradiction with the interest of the Group. The risk to be avoided is that the personal interest that a SIMAT Professional may have in a given scenario affects its decision-making on behalf of SIMAT, which should always pursue the best interest of the Group. Professionals with decision-making capacity or influence should put the interests of the Group before their personal interests. SIMAT Professionals have a duty of loyalty towards SIMAT and therefore, as a general rule, they must prevent and avoid being in a situation of conflict of interest. In cases where it is not possible or practical to avoid one, the Professional must inform their superior and/or their Human Resources team.

Common examples of conflict-of-interest situations:

- Hiring family members or friends.
- Having financial interests in companies competing with SIMAT, or which are clients or suppliers of the Group.
- Carrying out any paid activity related to the type of services that SIMAT may provide, in addition to work performed at SIMAT.
- Rendering any other services to SIMAT clients when such service has been facilitated by the previous performance of work by SIMAT for such client, unless duly authorized.
- Using our employment within SIMAT in order to secure any business or commercial opportunity for one's own benefit.

Some of the above conducts may be authorised in accordance with applicable internal policies and the Conflict of Interest Policy itself.

5.16. Use of SIMAT resources

As established in the Group's Policy on the use of IT resources, corporate email accounts are the property of the Company and therefore not appropriate for private use. Any use of the corporate email account for private purposes constitutes a waiver of privacy of its content. IT resources (PCs, laptops, tablets, phones, internet access and other communication systems) are for professional use and may only be used for personal issues when such use does not interfere with the performance of professional activities. SIMAT reserves the right to control the use of these IT facilities, always in compliance with applicable law and/or internal policies. Use of external files and software puts our security at risk and might lead to important criminal and civil sanctions for SIMAT. Therefore, any download or use of unauthorized software, any downloads of inappropriate content or any action that violates intellectual property rights is prohibited. All SIMAT Professionals must take proper care of resources assigned to them and must avoid damage, theft or any improper use of such resources.
